

Enjoy 24/7 Emergency Response From The Comfort of Your Home

With the HomeSafe medical alert system, seniors, individuals with medical conditions, and people that live alone can maintain their independent lifestyles. They can enjoy peace of mind and security that comes from uninterrupted around the clock access to emergency help from SafeGuard's Emergency Response Center. The HomeSafe system is designed to be user friendly, which makes it the perfect solution for individuals that spend most of their time at home.

The HomeSafe medical alert system is easy to set up and operate, and can be activated within minutes of receiving the unit. The system uses advanced wireless technology and offers comprehensive anti-failure protection features, including: power failure, low or missing battery alerts, 24 hour battery backup, and automatic periodic testing.

The HomeSafe medical alert system functions as a personal panic button using a portable emergency help pendant which can be worn as a necklace or wristband, clipped to clothing, or mounted to a wall. The tabletop console unit has built in two-way hands free voice communication capabilities to provide clear and reliable transmission with the SafeGuard Emergency Response Center to ensure help is received without delay.

Access to SafeGuard's Emergency Response Center is readily available 24 hours a day/7 days a week, simply by pushing the help button on the pendant or console. SafeGuard's is staffed with trained and certified response professionals that are experienced in dealing with medical events and emergency situations.

For less than a dollar a day, the HomeSafe medical alert system offers individuals and their loved ones the freedom, safety, and peace of mind to live independently.
